“Even though you have reported this matter to the elders, you have the absolute right to report this matter to the authorities if you want to and the elders will support you in whatever decision you make.”
 11. Transfer the elders to the Service Department.
 12. If matter has been or will be reported to the authorities, the elders need to ensure that their actions do not interfere with any police investigation.

REPORTING OBLIGATIONS IN THE NORTHERN TERRITORY

Care and Protection of Children Act (NT), ss. 15, 16, 26

General position:

- A child is someone under the age of 18 years.¹ The age of consent is 16 years.²
- An adult who has a special care relationship commits an offence if he/she has intercourse or commits and act of gross indecency with a child over 16.³
- The previous requirement to report “has been or is likely to be a victim of a sexual offence” has been replaced for children over 14 with “a child has suffered or is likely to suffer harm or exploitation”. For a child under 14, the phrase “has been or is likely to be a victim of a sexual offence” has been retained.
- With health practitioners, “If assessment of the young person [over 14] clearly identifies that the sexual activity is between developmentally normal peers aged within two years of each other, and is consensual, a report is not required.”⁴
- However, such practitioners have a responsibility to report if they believe that a child aged 14 or 15 has been or is likely to be a victim of a sexual offence and the age difference between the child and the offender is more than 2 years.⁵

Reporting obligation:

The obligation to report abuse applies to everyone in the NT and falls under 3 separate categories for non-health practitioners.⁶ If person believes on reasonable grounds that:

1. A child over 14 but under 18 has suffered or is likely to suffer harm or exploitation.⁷
2. A child under 14 years has been or is likely to be a victim of a sexual offence.⁸
3. A child 16-17 years old has been in a sexual relationship with someone who has a special care relationship with the child.⁹

Analysing calls about abuse:

- Person believes on reasonable grounds a child between 14-18 years has suffered or is likely to suffer harm or sexual exploitation — Matter must be reported.
- Person does not believe that a child between 14-18 years is at risk of harm or sexual exploitation — No need to report matter.
- Person believes on reasonable grounds that a child is under 14 years has been or is likely to be a victim of a sexual offence — Matter must be reported.
- Person believes on reasonable grounds that a child 16-18 has been or is likely to be a victim of a sexual offence with someone who has a special care relationship over the child — Matter must be reported.

How to Report:

- Notification can be made to the police,¹⁰ or by calling the Child Abuse Hotline 1800700250 (operated by Territories Families, Central Intake Team) or Crime Stoppers 1800333000.
